

THE REASONS.

Senator Scott of West Virginia Offers That Number

In Favor of a New Isthmian Canal Route.

FROM MANDINGO BAY.

Would Involve Five Mile Tunnel Through Solid Rock.

A Sub-Committee is Already Investigating It.

Washington, Feb. 6.—At the conclusion of routine business in the senate today a bill declaring the International Railway bridge over the St. Lawrence river a lawful structure was passed.

Mr. Scott (Rep., W. Va.) called up and had read a resolution which he offered several days ago providing for the appointment of a commission of experts to examine what is known as the San Blas, or Mandingo bay route, for an isthmian waterway, and to report to the senate the cost of constructing an interoceanic canal by that route. He said that nearly one-fourth of the sum necessary to construct a canal by any of the routes proposed already had been expended in an endeavor to find a suitable route for an isthmian canal, but confronted as congress was by a proposed appropriation of nearly $200,000,000 for the building of an interoceanic waterway, it was the duty of the president to carefully investigate every possible route. He disclaimed any intention to obstruct the construction of the canal itself, but he maintained that the question of route was still debatable. After thorough investigation, he said, he was convinced that the San Blas route met practically every requirement of the proposed waterway but because the adoption of that route involved the driving of a tunnel through the granite of a mountain range sufficiently large to admit of the passage of any ship about the route he regarded it as impracticable. Personally he was convinced that such a tunnel could be constructed at a reasonable cost.

Mr. Scott explained that the San Blas route connected the two oceans from the bay of Mandingo in the gulf of San Blas, on the Atlantic side, to Pearl Island harbor in the Gulf of Panama, on the Pacific side of the isthmus. Including the five mile tunnel, the canal would be three miles long. He said that the harbors of the San Blas route had excited the enthusiasm of all engineers who had investigated them. He believed that electrical power made it entirely practicable by this route to tow ships through the canal by electric trolley. He thought it improbable that large vessels would be able to navigate any other of the proposed routes.

The route he proposed, he said, offered international and commercial advantages. He said that anybody who would question the desirability of a ship canal by the San Blas if the tunnel which it involved could be constructed and had no other objection to be done. He referred to the Hoosac Mount Cais, St. Gothard, Arlberg and Simplon tunnels as daring and successful feats of engineering. He quoted both American and European engineering authorities to show that the construction of the San Blas tunnel was quite a practical proposition.

For the following reasons, Mr. Scott believed that the San Blas route was the only feasible and practicable level canal route:

1. Its healthy location.
2. Its shortness.
3. Its total absence of locks.
4. The possibility of working gangs of men night and day, in the wet and dry seasons, under good sanitary conditions.
5. The very important consideration that by this route and no other, sailing vessels could be towed by electric power, by night as well as by day, thus effecting a great saving of time and expense.
6. The economical maintenance of the canal, when completed.
7. The permanency of its rock bed and the absence of earth embankment.
8. The desirability of its location, constructed within three or at most, five years.

Mr. Scott concluded by strongly urging the adoption of the resolution saying that he wished to be convinced of the practicability or impracticability of a ship tunnel and had submitted his resolution as a mere business proposition.

At the conclusion of Mr. Scott's speech Mr. Morgan, chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals, moved that the resolution offered by Mr. Scott be referred to that committee. He said that the committee had had General Correll, the promoter of the San Blas route before it and the matter had been referred to a sub-committee which was now conducting an investigation of that project. He pointed out that the San Blas route would oppose the adoption of the San Blas route, as that would destroy both the Panama canal and the Panama Railway company. It would be a hopeless task he thought to convince anybody that the San Blas route would be the more desirable one proposed. However, he said the committee was investigating thoroughly all matters pertaining to an isthmian canal and would lay the facts concerning all routes before the senate.

Without objection the resolution was referred to the committee on interoceanic canals.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the Philippine tariff bill was taken up. Mr. Lodge suggested some minor verbal amendments to the bill.

The senate passed a bill appropriating $2,500,000 for a postoffice building in New York city.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The consideration of the oleomargarine bill was laid aside in the house today and the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was taken up. An attempt to limit general debate to two hours, failed. Mr. Hemmway (Ind.) in charge of the measure explained its provisions in general terms and pointed out the increases which it contained.

Under the latitude allowed in general debate Mr. Talbert (S. C.) made a speech in opposition to the proposition emanating from the other side to cut down southern representation because of abridgment of the franchise provisions.

fullest information as to the outlook of legislation said today:

"The program for considering the war revenue reduction bill is fully understood but it is not desired to give those who oppose the majority the fullest information on the exact time of its consideration, in order to assist their opposition. One thing has been settled beyond any doubt—that the bill will be passed exactly as reported, except in minor verbal committee changes. The length of the debate will be about two days, which seems about reasonable, as there is no great pressure for time. As to when the debate will begin, it hardly will be next week, as some thirty Republican members will be absent before and after Lincoln's birthday. So that it will not be taken up until there is a full Republican attendance, when it will be passed without amendment."

AS TO CHINESE EXCLUSION.

James D. Phelan recently mayor of San Francisco and one of the California commissioners appointed by the governor to represent the state before committee of congress here in Washington today. Referring to a statement by Minister Wu that labor "agitators" were behind the Chinese exclusion movement, Mr. Phelan detailed the overwhelming sentiment on the Pacific coast in favor of exclusion, as shown by referendum votes, a unanimous press, unanimous delegations in congress and a unanimous exclusion convention. On the other side, he said, were the Pacific Mail Steamship company, the Canadian railways, the Chinese diplomatic representatives, several retained attorneys and returned missionaries who urged no public reason for the admission of Chinese and who had finally agreed to the renewal of the Geary law for two years when it is stated in the Chinese coolie laborers. In conclusion he said: "The attorneys for the Chinese advocate the reenactment of the Geary law for two years, because in case of a decision from the supreme court, favorable to them, the law will be valuable for what it was designed by congress, viz: the exclusion of the Chinese coolie laborers. We are dealing with people who are trained to the evasion of the law and for 20 years the government has been endeavoring to circumvent their evasion."

Mr. Hansbrough (N. D.) addressed the senate on his bill appropriating the receipts from the sale of public lands in certain states and territories to the construction of irrigation works for the reclamation of arid lands. He claimed that the proposition was a national one and said it would provide homes for many now homeless.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hansbrough's speech the irrigation bill was ordered to the unfinished business when the Philippine tariff bill was disposed of.
